

Food and Drink Law

Expert lawyers who know this industry sector

Specialists Advice on Food and Drink Law

➤ Act now:

- Are you up-to-date with current food laws and regulations?
- Are you aware of the forthcoming changes in food and drink laws and regulations?
- Do you know what preparations you have to make to ensure compliance?
- Have you conducted due diligence on your processes and policies?
- Can you afford not to act NOW?

➤ We have a proven track record:

Our quality team of food lawyers has a wealth of experience advising companies in the food and drink industry sector over many years. The regulation of food and drink has become more complicated than ever before. It is imperative that you seek expert legal advice on food and drink law from our team now in order to protect your company and to ensure compliance with the current food laws and regulations, as well as awareness of the laws in the pipeline. We guarantee you such expertise and by working closely with us, you can rest assured that your company will continue to achieve success with the satisfaction of knowing that there is an amazing team of lawyers working alongside you.

Our fees:

We charge fixed costs for most legal services we would provide to your company.

Contact us:

Please telephone us on 0207 488 9947
Email: enquiries@rtcooperssolicitors.com.

You may obtain more information on our food law practice at:

http://www.rtcoopers.com/practice_food.php

Testimonials:

'We are really grateful to the RT Coopers work. They advised us on several subjects that are really important to our business. They also drafted a few contracts for our company. We highly recommend their professional services to any company looking for a high standard legal advice/solution with integrity and honesty.'

David Raimundo, Director of Medis Health Ltd

© RT Coopers, 2017